UNDER THE RUG

Mr Harris was supposed to be tidying up, but he wasn't. He was bent over on his armchair snoring, with the cleaning products still sat in the utility cupboard, exactly where Mrs Harris had left them. A lamp with a dying bulb sat on top of a nest of tables; its flickering light casting a dying glow across the room. Suddenly the bulb exploded! Mr Harris jolted and looked round for what the noise could be as he thought he was home alone. His eyes fell on the lamp, the pull-chain still swinging to and fro. Mr Harris trudged into the kitchen to sought out a spare bulb. He unscrewed the old and put in a new one in its place, wincing as the harsh new light that attacked his eyes. When his sight settled, he looked over at the rug above his carpet. There was a lump and worse yet, it began to move ...

Computing

Use the App BRUSHES to produce a portrait in the style of David Hockney. These pictures will be used to set up a Year 5 art exhibition once we are back in school.

You will also need to produce an exciting and interesting video that tells the story of your artwork. We will add Augmented Reality (AR) via the APP Aurasma and use green screen to give an extra dimension to your portraits.

Watch this video to see some brilliant examples of what AR is: <http://vimeo.com/50747223>
